Romark Logistics Participates in National Truck Driver Appreciation Week

Last week, many partook in National Truck Driver Appreciation Week which was established to recognize all of the hard work and dedication of the truck drivers across the United States. Across the country at our facilities, our team's setup barbeques and cookouts so that drivers could take a load off and have some good food and a break. We understand the complexities of the transportation industry and appreciate all of the drivers across the country who continue to make the economy move forward each and every single day.
